HONOLULU STAR-ADVERTISER LAUNCHES WAIKIKI MAGAZINE

The new publication will be distributed throughout Waikiki and guide visitors and local residents to area dining, shopping and recreation options

HONOLULU – The Honolulu Star-Advertiser is debuting a new publication, WAIKIKI MAGAZINE, this month. The graphics-and-content-rich magazine, which will be distributed every two weeks as an insert in Waikiki hotel copies of the Honolulu Star-Advertiser, focuses on entertainment, shopping and recreation in Hawai‘i’s premier visitor center.

“While Waikiki has traditionally been the playground of visitors and local residents, there’s never been a publication specifically dedicated to the rich shopping, dining and recreational experiences the area has to offer,” said Dennis Francis, publisher of the Honolulu Star-Advertiser.

Published in both English and Japanese, more than 11,000 copies of the new magazine will be inserted into Waikiki hotel copies of the Honolulu Star-Advertiser; another 40,000 copies will be available at over 45 racks throughout the area and at Honolulu International Airport.

“Waikiki is home to some of the finest restaurants, retailers and nightlife in the world, all set against the backdrop of white, sandy beaches and azure waters,” said Dave Kennedy, senior vice president of the Honolulu Star-Advertiser. “Such a special place deserves the highest-quality publication possible to properly highlight everything the area has to offer – and that’s what we’re doing with Waikiki Magazine.”
